

1

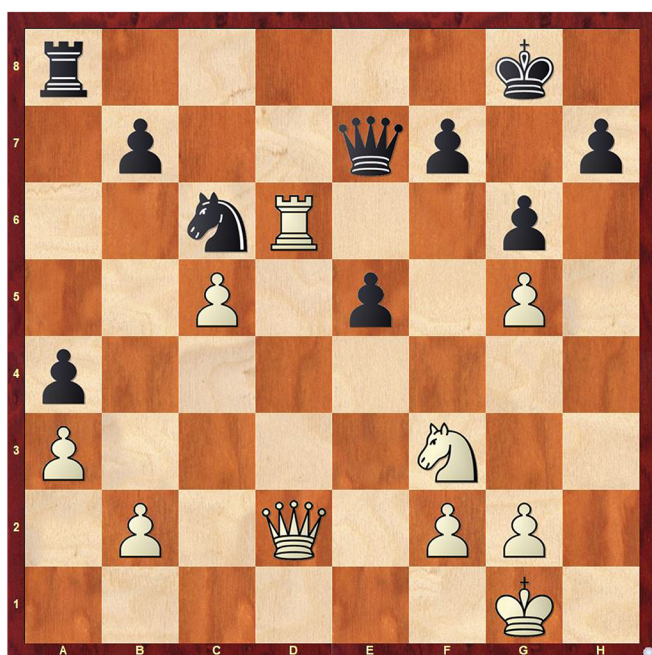

Which squares in black's position are weak?

2

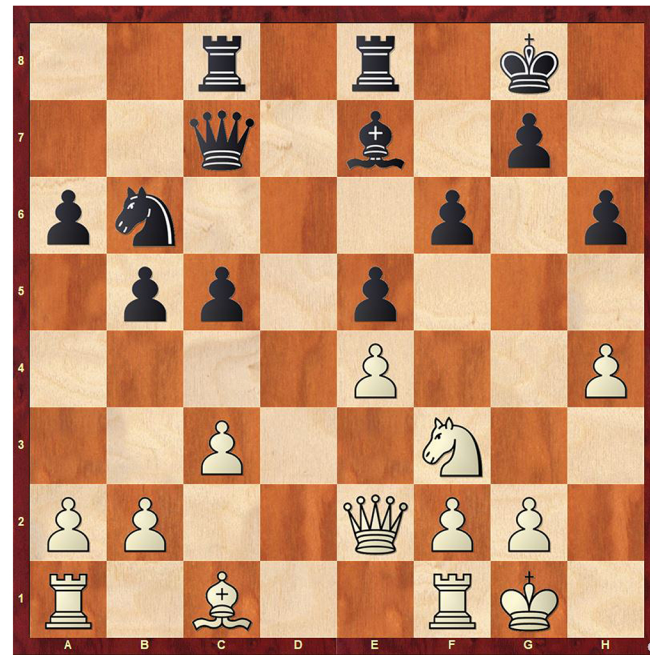

Black has a weak d5 square. How should white continue in this position?

3

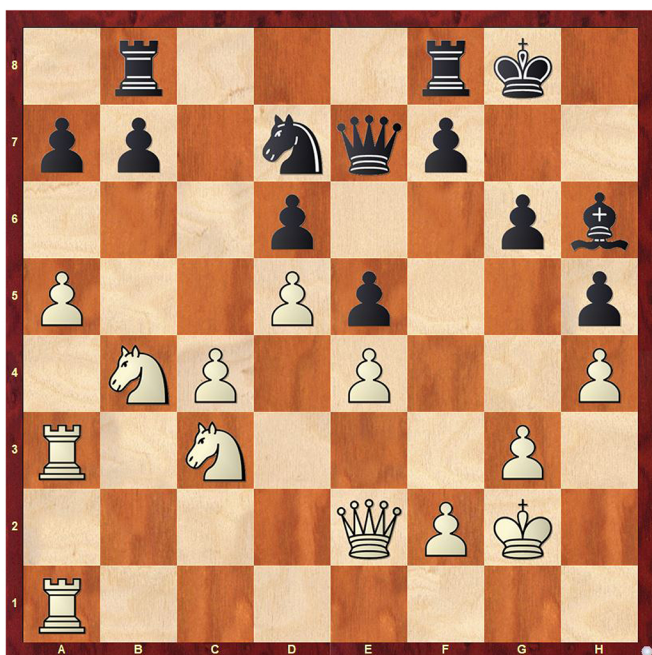

Black has two weak squares on the kingside - f6 and h6. How can white exploit them?

4

How can white exploit black's weak squares?

5

What move should white play to create a weak square in black's position that he can exploit?